

NEW UNITED DISCOUNTS PROGRAM:

If you have recently received an email from United referring to a new "United Discounts Program", and were wondering what it was all about, you are not alone. Several of our members have inquired about this email fearing that it may be a scam of some sort. Well, it is legitimate and it is a new program to provide an expanded array of discounts to employees and retirees. The text below is taken from the FlyingTogether website which is displayed in its entirety under Employee Services, My Rewards and then Employee Discounts. This program is separate from the UAdiscount 20% discount fare program and you must subscribe to the new United Discounts Program in order to take advantage of its provisions. If you open the email and follow the prompts you will be given instructions for subscribing to the program. Note that you must register and create a password in order to participate in the program; participation is voluntary.

Here is a portion of the text taken from the FlyingTogether website:

As employees, you have access to programs that reward great performance and support you in many areas of your lives, including programs for physical, emotional and financial wellbeing. We want to make sure you know what's available to you. You can check out the new myRewards page and watch this 30-second video if you'd like more information on myRewards now. To help you take full advantage of everything we have to offer, we're going to start highlighting one reward program per month over the next 12 months.

To kick off these monthly features, we're announcing our brand new and enhanced employee discounts program, which is powered by PerkSpot and will launch early next week. We've kept all the great discounts you're currently familiar with and added many more. Our new program will include over 30,000 discounts from 550 brands, including companies like Target, Macy's, Costco, Sam's Club, Walt Disney World, Samsung, AT&T, DIRECTV, XFINITY, DISH, T-Mobile and Sprint. And in early 2019, we'll start to offer local discounts for our international team members.

With the new program, you'll also be able to customize your discount experience to fit your needs and interests. Here are a few of the new features:

- Design your home page to feature the categories that interest you
- Access local discounts via an interactive map based on Zip Code
- Receive optional weekly emails with the latest discounts
- Recommend companies that you'd like to see added to the site
- View offers in more than 100 different languages
- Contact customer service for assistance locating discounts, maneuvering the site, checking the status of orders or following up on any issues/concerns

Excited to see the discounts? Early next week you'll receive an email from cs@perkspot.com, which will provide registration details for the new employee discounts site. You'll need to follow the link in the email to register and create a password. That will unlock all the discounts and get you started and ready to save. You can then add the new employee discounts site as a favorite on Flying Together, or you can always find it through the new Employee Discounts page that will be available starting next week, or through the myRewards page.

Once you register, you'll start receiving weekly emails, which you can opt out of at any time. If you don't interact with the employee discounts site, the emails will switch to monthly for six months and quarterly after that.
