We have had on occasion Louis Smith, the president of FAPA (Future and Active Pilot Advisors), attend our Kingwood LAC meetings. He asked me if his email below could be blasted out to all the GE members, and I said yes. Some of our members may want to pursue this information.

Subject: From Louis Smith about FAPA Pilot Job Fairs

Date: January 15, 2018 at 2:29:51 PM CST

To: Bruce Sprague <brucesprague@mac.com>

Bruce:

Thanks for taking my call. Below is the blurb.

Pilots over age 65 who want to keep flying have more attractive options than in the past. Part 135 charter operators have improved their pay and benefit packages and many are providing home-basing to attract former airline pilots.

FAPA is producing monthly Pilot Job Fairs around the U.S. and offers all pilots free attendance to meet with recruiters. If interested, visit <http://www.fapa.aero/jobs> to register for any of the job fairs, or call 1-800-JET JOBS (538-5627) if you have questions.
